MANNING

FAMILY RECORD

The early history of the Manning family up to John Manning, (b. 1769) was received by Mr. and Mrs. Warren Manning, Libertyville, Iowa from Mrs. W. M. (Mary K.) Mitchell, South Norwalk, Connecticut. She is the daughter of Andrew Manning Keethler-son of John Lansdown Keethler and Mary Catherine Manning.

The Manning family history dating from John Manning, (b. 1769) was taken from grave markers,from the John Manning family Bible, and from information gathered from the various branches of the Manning family.

The original Manning Family Record was compiled in August, 1940 by Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Strang, Douds, Iowa. In January, 1950 it was revised by Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Teeter, Fairfield, Iowa. This revision of May, 1962 was compiled by Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Strang and family.

Our thanks to everyone for their wonderful cooperation in sending us the necessary information on their families, and especially to Mr. and Mrs. Warren Manning, Libertyville, Iowa for their assistance.

INSTRUCTIONS

Beginning on page 4, the record of each member of the William Cranstan Manning family is given. The head of each family is in large type. For example-the first member traced is JOHN WESLEY. A list of his children follows; beginning with the oldest child their names are underlined (Nellie Faye). The names of her children are preceded by a capital letter ((A) Irven Lewis). His children's names are preceded by a small letter ((a) Joanne Faye). We hope this makes it easier to understand this revision of the Manning Record.

Also included in this book are several pages of historical facts concerning the Manning family thought to be of general interest.

In the fall of 1795 John Wood, David Wood, Jeriah Wood, John, Nathan, and Elisha Manning settled in Washington township, about a mile from Calvary Church. They had their families, and built what was called "Wood and Manning's station," and supposed to have been the first in Clermont. These settled lived in the station, which was a residence and fort combined, and several times the men were driven into the station by passing predatory bands of Indians going to Ky. to steal horses or on their return from that State by way of the Neville crossing. They were never attacked by the savages or the station seriously disturbed, as the treaty held the redskins in check, tho they frequently violated its provisions in crossing the Ohio River to steal horses from pioneers of the Dark and Bloody ground. Simon Kenton and Daniel Boone often stopped overnight at this station. The Woods and Buchanans were old friendsof Daniel Boone and were neighbors in Germentown and Washington Ky.

Page 280 - The first settlement made in Southern Clermont and the second permanent one in the county was by the Wood family in Washington twp. This family is of pure English ectraction, coming down from the Revolutionary era with an honorable record for services to the patriot cause in the days of 1776.

David Wood, born and living in Virginia, was a soldier in "The Virgina Line on the Continental Establishment," and his son, David Wood married a Miss Smith descended from the early iminigrants to the states from Germany, just before the old French and Indian Wars. About the year 1791 David and his brother John Wood emigrated to Ky. and settled at Washington, then the leading town of the northern part of that state. In the fall of 1795 the two Wood Brothers, David and John, accompanied by Elisha, Nathan and Richard Manning (brothers) who had married respectively three sisters of the two Wood brothers, moved over from Ky into what is now Washington twp and built what was called "Wood and Manning's station", at which time the only other building of any kind in what is now Clermont Co., was the log cabin of Col Thomas Paxton, erected a few weeks before, back of the present town of Loveland.

Page 363 John Wood, the eldest of the brothers was one of the early associate judges. Had 5 sons and 2 daughters. David Wood, his brother had 6 children. The 3rd brother Jeriah, died soon after 1800 and left 3 children- Abraham, Elizabeth and Rachel.

Of the Mannings, John was the husband of Elizabeth Wood, and after living on the Indian Creek until he had reared his family, he removed to Iowa. One of his daughters was married to Jabez Harris of Washington. In the family of Elisha Manning, who died on the Indian Creek, were 2 sons John and Elisha, who also lived in the township until their death, a few years later.

Richard Manning settled north of the Neville, where he lived in 1852. Daughter Mary, wife of Alex Phillips, and Ann of Mathew Wilson, son Aaron married Sarah Smith and died in Washington about 1848.
